

Rain:

A Tribute to the Beatles

Rain

The mystique of the Beatles can never be forgotten. The band Rain: A Tribute to the Beatles had a goal to become the best band in the world at duplicating the sound of the Beatles, because of their love for the music and their desire to fill the void left in the music scene. They wanted not only to learn the sounds of the early Beatles, but the complete Beatles, A to Z. Rain's feeling is that any band can learn a Beatles song, but it takes a very special talent to do it right. Rain doesn't just learn the song, they truly study the song, note for note. Their secret is in the attention to every detail. Their live show, which includes several costume changes, is quite an extraordinary experience, leaving Beatles fans in awe. This has earned Rain rave reviews internationally as well as won them the privilege of performing on many movie and TV projects including the entire soundtrack to Dick Clark's motion picture, "The Birth of the Beatles" and starring roles in the Broadway show "Beatlemania". Rain not only look like they are having fun on stage, they truly are. It is this last ingredient that has kept Rain: A Tribute to the Beatles together for so many years, and has earned them the reputation as "The Most Renowned Beatles Tribute in the World."
